N.Y. Firm Awarded Distribution Rights For New Pope Paul Medal

Diocesan officials have described the Pope Paul medal assigned Mark International, Inc. of New York for exclusive United States distribution as the most striking they have ever seen. This half-dollar sized medallion, struck in the exacting standards of old world craftsmanship, is now available to collectors in the United States in a limited quantity.

Officials of Mark International have expressed their honor in having been selected as the United States distributors of this choice medallion. Struck from polished dies the medals have a proof surface with the lettering and design finished in frosted relief and as befitting so regal a personality as the Pope the medals are struck in pure silver.

The obverse design of the medal portrays a most striking and life-like bust of His Holiness Pope Paul VI, the 261st successor of St. Peter and the head of the Roman Catholic Church. The identifying legend reads, in Latin, PAVLVS VI - PONTIFEX MAX. The reverse side bears, in all classic and reverent simplicity, the Papal Coat-of-Arms of Pope Paul.

The release of this medal is most timely for the historic visit of His Holiness is still fresh in the minds of all Americans of all creeds. This marked the first time that a Pontiff had ever visited the New World and the occasion of the Pope's visit was his passionate desire and plea expressed before the United Nations on behalf of world peace.

Collectors wishing to obtain a single specimen of this medal may do so by ordering direct from Mark International, 521 fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017. The cost is a modest $5.95 post-paid.

alive make it debatable if the prize made them famous or they enhanced the already glamorous name of the Nobel recipients.

Most of the names are familiar only to those who are versed in specific fields but the Literature and Peace awardees are usually well known to the general public. Pearl Buck, George Bernard Shaw, William Faulkner, Winston Churchill, Earnest Hemingway, and John Steinbeck ring the bell of familiarity to those who enjoy literature. Albert Schweitzer, Gen. George Marshall, LINUS PAULING, Dag Hammarskjold and Ralph Bunche are some of the Peace prize selectees. The name of LINUS PAULING stands alone as recipient of a second award in another field. He won the Chemistry prize in 1954 for his "Study of Forces Holding Together Protein and Other Molecules".

Collectors Given Preference In Revised Israel Distribution Pattern

The recently awakened interest in Israel's coins and State Medals by collectors the world over has required the Israel Government Coins and Medals Corporation to re-evaluate previously established distribution patterns.

This re-evaluation was brought about by the thousands of new collectors who have, as it were, challenged Israel's decision to keep its minting low and, at the same time, to keep its numismatic offerings available to collectors throughout the world.

The Israel Government Coins and Medals Corporation has therefore changed the terms of its subscription program and, secondly, has resolved to make the bulk of its new issues available to the collecting public at official issue prices.

Accordingly, subscriptions will henceforth be available only to those collectors who wish to be guaranteed a supply of both coins and State Medals at a discount price.

Collectors who are interested exclusively in the coins or State Medals may avail themselves of these without subscribing, through the new policy of making public offerings at official issue prices in the daily and numismatic press. In this way, the Israel Government Coins and Medals Corporation is confident that Israel's numismatic offerings will receive the widest possible distribution to the world-wide numismatic fraternity.

U.S. 1964 Coin Sets Produced

Bernard Carr, a coin collector from Syracuse, N.Y., ran into considerable trouble trying to find out how many 1964 U.S. uncirculated coin sets have been produced.

He wrote many letters to the U.S. mint and received a deluge of form letters — none of which supplied him with the information he wished.

Finally, he wrote his Congressman, Rep. James M. Hanley, whose reply of Nov. 8 is printed below.

Dear Mr. Carr:

This refers to our correspondence concerning the distribution of the mint sets and the production of 1964 uncirculated coin sets.

To date, 977,410 uncirculated coin sets have been released. This

The Nobel Prize

Alfred Bernhard Nobel died in 1896 but left behind a heritage that continues to draw major headlines each year.

The Nobel prizes awarded for Peace, Physics, Literature, Physiology, Chemistry and Medicine are among the most sought after awards in the world. Not only do the committees present gold medals and scrolls, but they include handsome cash prizes that enable the winners to pursue their respective fields in depth. The cash prize varies tremendously, depending on the income from the Nobel Fund. (Nobel left 9 million dollars). Recent recipients have found their savings accounts enhanced by sums in the neighborhood of $50,000. (A delightful neighborhood for any scientist or humanist to be close to).

The prizes for physics and chemistry are given by the Swedish Academy of Science in Stockholm, the physiology and medicine winners are selected by the Caroline Medical Institute in Stockholm, literature by the Swedish Academy of Literature and the peace prize is given by 5 persons elected by the Swedish Parliament.

Perhaps the reason that the highest respect is given recipients is that Nobel's will stated, "no consideration should be paid to the nationality of the candidates and the most deserving be awarded the prize whether of Scandinavian decent or not." Thus the winner is selected from the entire world and stands alone as the master in his field.

The names of the winners encompass the rollcall of the immortals that once trod this earth. Recent winners who are still

Two Letters On UCCA

Mr. Robert A. Wallace
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury
Washington, D.C.
Dear Mr. Wallace:

We thought you might be interested in knowing what effect the release of the new Clad quarter dollars had insofar as the coin collecting fraternity is concerned.

You are no doubt aware of the fact that the trade papers are not accepting ads from dealers wanting to traffic in this material, and the United Coin Collectors Alliance has backed up this policy all the way. We of U.C.C.A. have also been instrumental in suggesting that all of the major teletype systems in our industry forbid the selling of the new coinage on the circuits. So far we have been successful in convincing them to go along with us in our efforts to preclude any further coin shortages.

I believe that the release of these coins at this time was a very good idea so that by the time the holidays do roll around the public will be accepting them easily without any disturbance to the flow of change in commercial business.

Very truly yours,
Harry J. Forman, President
United Coin Collectors' Alliance

Mr. Harry J. Forman, President
United Coin Collectors Alliance,
Post Office Box 5756,
Philadelphia 20, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Forman:

Assistant Secretary Wallace has asked me to convey the thanks of Department officials for your thoughtful letter of November 5th, outlining the policy your organization is pursuing aimed at keeping coins in circulation.

The efforts we have been making along these lines have been made easier by the willingness of the coin collectors to cooperate with the Treasury's program, and the voluntary measures initiated by interested people like yourself are but another example. It is, indeed, gratifying.

Sincerely,
Frederick W. Tate
Acting Director of the Mint

Interviews With The Dealer

By Lee Martin

Interviewed: Henry Tedtman—Long Beach California, dealer specializing in Type Coins.

Pace—Mr. Tedtman, you are a constant bourse dealer, do you find any new trends in customer demand?

Tedtman—There has been a transitional change to the better grade type coins but I still see a lot of interest in fine crowns of the world.

Pace—Any country seem to be

in demand over the others?

Tedtman—I find that any rare crown is easily sold but China and Mexico have a lot of adherents. Of course the big interest is still in the U.S. market.

Pace—Have the shows been profitable and if so are you going to expand your coverage?

Tedtman—Shows vary in their returns. I will probably continue to concentrate on the shows but I will try and be more selective. I intend to talk to my fellow dealers and to see who is sponsoring the shows before I buy my table. Generally tho, I am very satisfied with the better shows.

Pace—I know that you have some interest in the Commemorative market. Has there been any demand expansion lately?

Tedtman—Yes, Commemorative half dollars are a safe steady market, continually rising but not subject to peaks and valleys because no sell off in large quantity can occur. This coupled with steady demand has made the Commemoratives a collector favorite. A few high priced coins are probably the best buy of all because of their very limited supply.

Interviewed:

Rainbow Coins in Lakewood, California co-owned by partners Dean Duffy and Carl Miller. Specializing in Type Coins and Investments.

Pace—Your store is about a year old, since opening have you found that your customers are specialists?

Miller—No, it seems that most buy anything that appeals to them. A number of very knowledgeable buyers are in the field and their number is increasing so the better obsolete coins are getting harder to locate.

Pace—I noted that you have a comparatively new store but I am sure that each of you have been in coins for a long time.

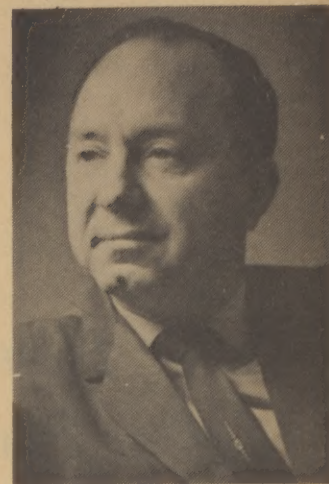

Duffy—Yes, I have been in coins for quite a while and Carl is also an experienced collector. We are also aided by Mrs. Miller who is quite aware of market movements.

Pace—You have some truly rare coins, how does one dealer acquire so many? Any special secret?

Duffy—We do feature some very early coins but they are the result of a lifetime of searching. Sometimes I almost hate to see a coin sold because of the effort involved in securing it.

Pace—The coin market has been erratic of late, do you feel there is any reason for this?

Miller—Any market reflects conditions and the stock market has been on the same keel. I believe that once the coin shortage ends and outside influences are minimized, we will see another strong return. Don't forget recessions in coins are not new, remember 1958 and 1960?

Interviewed:

Don Thompson of Paradise Valley, Scottsdale, Arizona.

Pace—Don, you are one of the best known dollar specialists. How much activity has there been in dollars recently?

Thompson—It is surprising but I have seen more movement in dollars this past month than in a very long time. I am also now interested in dollars of the world and this field is getting a lot of attention also.

Pace—So many varieties have been introduced that I wonder if they have not hurt the dollar interest rather than aided it. After all too much of a good thing can confuse, can't it?

Thompson—Any variety is important and once it becomes established it creates new interest in the series. The 1878 group are a good example of this.

Pace—The 1893-S and the 1895 proof have been running a price race for a long time and I wonder which is truly the most desired and easily sold?

Thompson—The argument will continue because the true gem 1893-S is VERY scarce but easily found in the lesser grades. The 1895 proof is under priced at present and therefore harder to find for sale. Perfect specimens are also hard to locate.

Pace—Are there any sleepers in the Morgan Dollar Series?

Thompson—Yes, one coin has really been overlooked. In the last 15 years I have only seen 3 gems of the 1892-S. In fact I have seen at least four times as many 1893-S as I have the earlier issue. It is hard to understand the collector glossing over the 1892-S.

NUMISMATIC REVIEW

F. Scott Otey III

ONCE UPON A time there lived a Boy Scout, a collector, and a turkey gobbler . . . you can imagine how this story would go, can't you? On top of it all, they lived happily ever after too!

The funny part of this story is it is really occurring today. Our Boy Scouts are able to once more buy coins at prices they can afford in order to earn their merit badge in numismatics. A friend of mine tells me that his ten year old son is once again filling holes in his Lincoln set; he tells me that it's been about four years since the prices have been so low. Now I don't think Lincoln prices are all that low but a price softening has been occurring and it's a wonderful thing to know that our youth take such an active part in today's science of NUMISMATICS.

Once again collectors rejoice, your favorite past time is here again. Well, not really you know, it just seems that way since prices are filtering down to a healthier level. With uncirculated 55-S cents approaching fifty cents, with the cheaper proof sets selling for about six dollars, and with most other key coins taking similar adjustments coin collecting rests on a new plateau from which we all can benefit.

GOBBLE GOBBLE

Oh yes, TURKEY DAY, I nearly forgot. Let me wish you all a happy post Thanksgiving Day and as we pass through Christmas, New Year's, birthdays, anniversaries and through another Thanksgiving Day may we be ever thankful for Gods many blessings to us. May we remember always those who have gone before us in order that we should have a better way of life.

To those of you who have to stop and think of something for which to be thankful for, I leave this thought . . . Of all the lives possible in this wide world, the millions of animals, the absolute billions of insects, birds by the tens of thousands, and from all these possible lives, yours by chance happened to be HUMAN. Not only human but probably American too . . . truly we all have many things for which to be thankful.

Hooray for Boy Scouts, hooray for collectors, and hooray for turkey day too.

The Silver War Nickels

By Lee Martin

When is nickle more precious than silver? The answer; when wartime needs are such that they eliminate costs as a factor and demand the more common metal.

World War II was such a period and from 1942 to 1945 the Defense requirements demanded all nickel. The obvious answer for this rugged metal lay in our stockpile destined for coins. Some substitute would have to be used.

The price of silver during 1942 was only 71 cents per ounce and it was not under intense demand in those pre-missile days. It seemed to be the answer to our coinage problem, and despite objections of Congressman Dewey of Illinois, was recommended.

The original war nickel was to contain 50 per cent silver and 50 per cent copper. The mint of course had to determine if this al-variety, or pointed "5" sets hardly command a premium. This means that the supply is equal to the demand. Of course if the Royal Canadian Mint did not start to accept orders again later this year after they were cut off, there would not have been enough sets to satisfy the demand and they would be commanding a good premium now. Of course this has hurt no one except the speculators who tried to make a killing on 1965 sets. The collectors who just ordered a set or two for their collectors are perfectly satisfied.

Israel

There is a lot of interest in the coinage of Israel, and it seems that the Government of Israel bends over backwards to oblige the collector. They do not try to flood the market or overproduce coins for collectors. The dies are destroyed after the coins and medals are struck so you know that there will never be any of the old coins restruck.

The Market

As we mentioned last week, this is definitely a buyers market, and we have noticed that there is a lot of uncirculated roll the various teletype systems. Many people say that the uncirculated roll business is dead, perhaps it isn't as active as it was, but there is still a lot of business going on. Of course the prices are not in demand at any price, even a fraction over face value, but the key and semi-key rolls in all series are being bought and sold daily. We must conclude then that there is still a coin market even though many items are depressed. The release of the new clad quarters a few weeks ago hasn't seemed to have any effect on the coin business, but we believe that when the new half dollars finally get released that there will be some action. If the Mints can produce Kennedy half dollars faster than the average public can hoard them, we will finally have some new half dollars in circulation. One of the rarest coins in circulated condition today is a 1964 Kennedy half dollar. It is much easier to find a 1917 Walking Liberty half dollar in change than it is to find a Kennedy half now. Of course the coin collectors were the ones who got blamed for this situation, but the coin collectors just have a very small percentage of the Kennedy halves put away. Many were shipped overseas, and there are many that the various jewelry manufacturers got ahold of to put in key chains, money clips, and various other novelties. The largest single hoarder is the average American who is not a coin collector.

a few of the silver War Nickels in his collection and as such they are probably immune from the power that the Treasury now holds. At their discretion they can outlaw the melting of any coins. It is this sword that has prompted large holdings to be dumped rather than retained for future price hikes in silver. Of the 865 million war nickels that were minted less than 20 per cent still exist.

There are 11 different wartime issues, including all 3 mints, and the key coin is the Denver release of 1943. This date is being saved while all common ones are being melted so it may someday find itself in the unique position of outnumbering the so called high mintage coins.

Three years ago a complete set of uncirculated nickels sold for $10.00. Today it brings $35.00. Used coins with .55 face value are being cleaned and selling for $5.00 in an inexpensive holder. In years to come, one can expect the coins to continue to rise. The Lone Ranger used to call, "Hiyo Silver Away," the same sound is being heard from the Treasury but collectors will always feel otherwise.

Gena In Washington

By Maurice Gould

One of the most successful and active regional organizations is the Great Eastern Numismatic Association, Inc., which will be holding its Convention in Washington, D.C., at the Hotel Sheraton-Park, on December 3, 4, and 5, 1965.

Founded by Sam Burgdorf just a few years ago, this group has made rapid strides in all phases, education and coin conventions.

From the program which I have received, there are almost four days of conclaves, as there is a business meeting at 10:00 p.m. on Thursday, as well as an educational program by Chet Krause earlier in the evening. Everything seems well planned and this Convention should be a must for all collectors and dealers who make the major ones.

I hope to be there myself and will look forward to seeing many of my friends in person.

One thing which especially pleased me was that the proceeds from the six "Shower of Gold" drawings will be presented to The American Cancer Society. It is good to know that we can think of charity along with our hobby.

There are a few coin dealers who even have a fixed amount available for such institutions as the Smithsonian, where it is used as needed for purchases for the Museum.

This Convention, in my opinion, will point up the progress that has been made in recent months, from the let-down which we experienced a while back, so all eyes will be focused on the business activities, attendance, etc.

Numismatics of Our 50th State — Hawaii

Since the admission of Hawaii to Statehood, a tremendous surge of interest has taken place in every phase of Hawaiian numismatics, including coins, tokens, and paper money.

Very few coins were issued for the Kingdom of Hawaii, the first being in 1847, a copper one cent piece bearing the head of Kamehameha III. The cents are all dated 1847 and are quite scarce. A hundred thousand of these pieces were coined, but many were not accepted by the superstitious natives and hundreds of pieces were thrown into the sea to disappear forever.

It is becoming more and more difficult to obtain these coins in nice condition. Dealers stocks of this coin are very weak, even the ones who try to carry a complete line of Hawaiian coins, and being a type coin, there is no doubt that this coin will have a steady increase in value over the years.

A souvenir copy of these cents has been made in recent years, which was sold on the Island, but it can easily be detected from the original.

The 1883 Series

The most famous issue of Hawaiian coins is the series of 1883. These were issued in the following denominations:

Ten cents or one dime; ¼ dollar, 1 dollar. And were coined at the San Francisco Mint.

The engraver was the world famous Charles Barber, engraver of the Philadelphia Mint. His excellent workmanship made these coins extremely attractive and much sought after.

One-half million pieces of the ¼ dollar and 1 dollar were struck; 700,000 of the ½ dollars, and 250,000 of the dimes.

The great majority of the dollars were withdrawn from circulation and melted, leaving approximately ten percent of the issue outstanding.

Many of these beautiful pieces found their way into various forms of jewelry and many were holed for use in bracelets. All of the pieces, except for the ¼ dollar, are very difficult to obtain in Uncirculated condition. A hoard of ¼ dollars came to light, so that for the time being, they are obtainable in nice Uncirculated condition.

Some dealers who stock Hawaiian coins offer the four silver pieces by the set and in most cases, this is the least expensive way to purchase them.

There are a few dealers in the us Pauling, recently exhibited the gold medals in the CSNA coin show, held in San Diego. The crowd surrounding the display testified to the interest shown this once in a lifetime grouping.

Medal collectors discovered that the medals varied in thickness depending upon the available supply at the time of manufacture. The Peace medal was designed by Gustaf Vigeland and struck at the Norwegian Mint. Its fineness is 23 carats and it weighs 200 grams. The obverse features a bust of Alfred Nobel and the reverse shows a group of 3 men forming a chain of brotherhood. The words Pro Et Fraternitate Gentium are seen around two-thirds of the design. On the edge of the medal the words Parlamentum Norwegiae and Linus Pauling are engraved.

A scroll, beautifully executed was also displayed and although it was written in Swedish, the terminology was easily decoded. Linus Carl Pauling, born November 27, 1895, has been awarded

THE DIPLOMA presented Pauling is an ornate, distinctive, explanatory award that tied the display together and gave an insight into Scandinavian art.

THE FUTURE Nobel Peace Prize winner as he appeared when only 18 months old. Linus Carl Pauling also won the Nobel Chemistry award in 1954.

U.S. GOLD ON THE MOVE YOU NEED TO BUY GOLD

Gold has always been one of the best buys in the numismatic field. Today more than ever gold is one of your best buys. It not only serves as a hedge against inflation but also assures the buyer a just return on his purchase. Examine closely the international monetary situation. Don't you need to buy a little gold? If you need larger lots than listed below please call.

THE READERS VOICE

c/o PACE Box 1925, Fort Worth, Texas 76101

Gentlemen:

Lee Martin's story gently led we readers into what happened to the roll market.

this testimonial for the Nobel prize of 1962. . . issued in Oslo Dec. 1963.

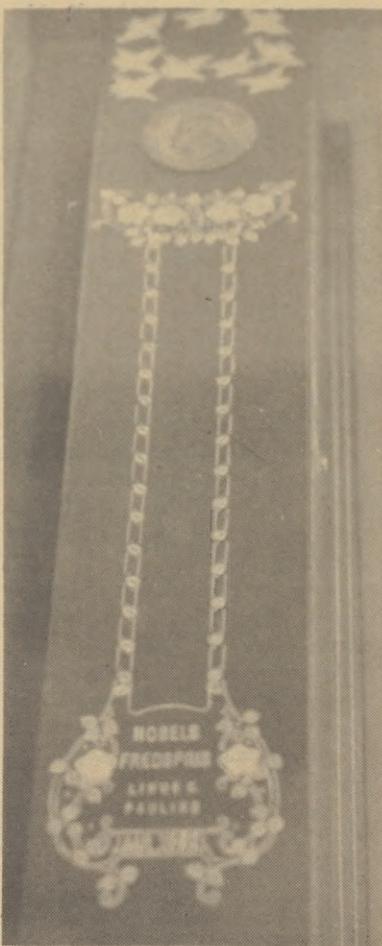

Even the box that the award is presented in is outstanding in its workmanship and this too was seen in the Ney exhibit. The case, inlaid with superb design, displayed the Swedish craftsmanship and perfection involved in this international reward.

Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite, left his fortune to humanity and as such, it is doing its share to insure humanity will be here to continue to receive it.

The Nobel prizes are truly a demonstration of nobleness.

PAULINE NEY, sister of Linus Pauling, stands beside the display that was a show stopper at the recent San Diego Coin Show.

THE HAND TOOLED wooden box that the award is contained in. It is distinctive and worthy of exhibition itself.

Frankly, Mr. Lee is very correct. But, folks need to know — blame needs to be placed where it belongs. Pace needs to take the lead (don't you think?) to knock the props from one GUILTY publication and a coin company or two which are responsible for the current dilemma. Further, Pace needs to expose the would-be corrupters while they're laying the foundation for it. That is, when it begins to occur in the future. Roll dealers by and large make very little per roll but these corrupters try to buy for a little or nothing and make it big on one coin or two.

I'm a middle-aged fellow but old in coins so to speak. . . The economy is booming. It shan't be long 'til the roll market is booming again. . . There's no point in letting the investors suffer further, is there? Let's fire with both barrels.

Cordially,
Ron Bentley (Pen Name)

New Investment Company Formed

A new company, Coins Incorporated, has recently announced the public offering of 200,000 shares of its Class A Common Stock at $10 per share. Coins Incorporated, which is located at 2341 Carnegie Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, was formed specifically for the purpose of investing in coins, currency and other items of numismatic interest.

The officers and principal shareholders of Coins Incorporated are: Michael R. Kolman, Chairman; Robert F. Kopas, President; Dr. Joseph S. Kopas, Vice President; and Michael L. Kolman, Secretary-Treasurer. The Company's Board of Directors consists of the four officers and Richard A. Probst, Edward W. Paran and William F. Murphy.

The Company is affiliated with Federal Brand Enterprises, Inc., a wholesale and retail coin dealer with headquarters in Cleveland.

The net proceeds from this offering of its Class A Common Stock will be used principally for the Company's initial investment acquisitions in coins, currency and other articles of numismatic value—principally those of the United States. The Company will seek its profit solely through advantageous investments in numismatic items, and does not intend to engage in the numismatic industry as a dealer. It is expected that its acquisitions will be at prices substan-

Parking Meters Go International

Coins from 21 countries have turned up in Jacksonville, Fla. parking meters in two months.

That's the report of Harry Nearing, inspector of the city parking meter department, who decided to save the coins after meter collectors reported more and more foreign coins.

What he discovered left no doubt in his mind as to Jacksonville's importance as an international trade and shipping port. Coins have appeared from Argentina, Brazil, Cuba, Mexico, Spain, the Dominican Republic, Panama, England, France, Canada, Italy, Greece, Turkey, East Africa, Arabia, the Philippines, Germany, Japan, Korea, Israel and Ireland.

Coin Exchange Transactions

BU ROLL PRICES AS OF WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1965

The BID and ASKED prices listed on this page were taken directly from the prices shown on the teletype, and represent wholesale prices at which coins were traded at or were offered at during the week of November 29th. Of course there are some items that had several different prices both bid and asked, and we have done our best to average these items so as to give our readers the best picture possible. We have tried to ignore ridiculous bids and offers to keep the prices true. For instance, a certain roll might be actively traded in at between $95.00 and $100.00 and we have noted many transactions around these figures. Naturally we will ignore a bid offer of $75.00 or a sell offer of $125.00 on this roll as these offers are not in line at all and would just confuse the picture.

REMEMBER, THESE ARE TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN DEALERS. RETAIL PRICES ARE HIGHER.

V.H. Sales Mgr. Opens Business

Lennart Koraen, previously the photographer and manager of Van Horne Sales Ltd. Photographic Dept., is buying out. The new firm, Koraen Photography Reg., will be located in downtown Montreal. Lennart Koraen will, however, remain associated with Van Horne and continue to do the work they started together.

Van Horne spent one year on research and a great deal of money on perfecting coin photography. It is felt to be of numismatic value that rare coins, bills and medals should be photographed and registered centrally. This is also of personal importance to the owner of valuable rare coins for insurance purposes. The final piece of specially made photographic equipment, a light unit, will be in operation by early January 1966.

Lennart Koraen said: "We hope to eventually have on file negatives of as many rare Canadian, U.S. and other countries' coins, medals, bills and other numismatic items as possible. Such a load of photographic information, which will be the first of its kind in Canada, could be put to many uses."

1. The photo record would eventually show the history of ownership of the rarest pieces.

2. It could serve as a research center for writers. They could also obtain prints of rare numismatic items.

3. A central photo file would make it extremely difficult for thieves to sell their loot. Because of minor blemishes, no two coins are exactly alike.

4. It is hoped that in the future every valuable coin sold will be accompanied by a photo that will attest to its authenticity.

Coins should be photographed twice so that there is one negative of the obverse and one of the reverse. The coins are photographed to scale, 1:1, or to other specifications given. Each negative is then given a number and then cross-filed under the owner's name and under the coin's denomination and nationality.

Koraen Photography Reg. will be established and ready for business by December. Lennart Koraen is not only an expert in numismatic photography, but he also photographs most other small and medium sized items, when high quality reproductions are required.

Security Coin Company Can Make Money For You!

Every single uncirculated coin, roll and proof set should be analyzed to determine its profit potential to the buyer BEFORE making even the smallest purchase.

Security Coin Company has done this for you. Our 16 page analyses contain almost every coin minted in the U.S. since 1837. We show you the price at which these coins SHOULD BE SELLING NOW. (Not arbitrary buy and sell prices.) We show you which coins should be bought, held, or sold NOW, AND WHY.

These analyses are available quarterly at $3.00 per copy or $10.00 annually. Naturally, we would like to fill your orders and SAVE YOU UP TO 20%—maybe even more. Write us today.

country who have built up a stock of Hawaiian coins, and as their stock becomes weaker and the material more difficult to obtain, these pieces should enhance in value and become more desirable.

The rise in prices has been meteoric as I checked an old price list before the book was published on Hawaiian material by Whitman in 1960 and found that the Hawaiian dollars were selling at $3.75 to $3.50 in nice condition. Today they would run $70 to $100 in the same category.

I look for all Hawaiian material to be in demand over the years, as foreign collectors as well as U.S. collectors need these pieces.

I will deal with other Hawaiian material from time to time.

Report on Coin Dealers

I visited quite a number of dealers this past week, some of whom I had not seen for a long time, and it was interesting to note that the ones who have made the most progress are the ones going along with the times and who have the stock, equipment, and personnel necessary to keep with present-day needs of the collector.

The largest coin shop in New England is the Crystal Coin Company of Wakefield, Mass., run by the Scott family. This very modern establishment does a tremendous mail-order business and yet, anyone dropping in finds there is someone to greet him and spend the necessary time to help in any way possible.

I met Tom Wass of New York City, past President of PNG, as well as another New York dealer, and the efficiency of the staff is matched only by its geniality.

On the other hand, some coin shops seemed in deplorable condition, the owners downcast, and yet seemingly not wanting to do anything to modernize or better their position. Evidently success does not come the easy way with most coin dealers, but requires hard work and ingenuity.

This is reporting on New England, but as I travel around the country and Canada, will give further specifics to you.

I always ask — what is the hot item right now or what is selling good this week? And have been told that Indian Head Cents have been extremely active and of course, the United States type coins are always in demand. There seems to be a shortage of good type coins, especially in the early material, so those fortunate enough to have them can breathe a sigh of relief.

that detracts from the show and overlapping shows that compete with each other. Auctions conducted during shows actually compete for the collector's dollar and instead of being held during the show hours as an added attraction, often are conducted during peak hours and thus dissipate the 'good' they offer.

Perhaps there are no cures for some inherent weaknesses but one problem encountered by visitors is the similarity of all bourse tables. Because coins tend to sell in cycles and dealers have a minimum of space, they generally bring only those items that the public is currently buying. Unfortunately for most dealers, in some cases the cycle has run its course and would be buyers of other coins are frustrated by not seeing the items that appeal to them. A recent show featured 75 tables and 70 of them carried only "better" type coins. This would normally be considered a top quality sale but a number of Roll buyers, (yes they still exist), gave up and left empty handed as did the dealers who found that the interest in the higher priced coins was limited. The five tables that featured foreign crowns, proof sets, ancient coins and miscellaneous items, all made money. This is not meant as an indictment of the type coin market because thousands of dollars of them were sold, but lack of market sensitivity was apparent when the bourse tables were analyzed.

Twenty five collectors answered a little questionnaire that I presented them on this skimpy statistical query the following questions were asked.

1. What do you look for FIRST when you attend a show?
2. Do you specialize and if so, in what?
3. Do you believe that coin dealers are good merchants, explain.
4. How would you improve this show? What are this shows strong points?
5. Have you exhibited and if so were there any problems involved?
6. What is your favorite show? Why?

Answers were as wide ranging as a butterfly in a field of flowers but some suggestions stood forth. For example. . . .

1. The size of the exhibit area, the number of dealers, who they are and the lighting.

2. This showed many, many collectors held rolls and proof sets. Those who ignore this market are bypassing a preponderance of the buyers.

3. Most dealers were indicted for lack of aggressiveness or too much aggressiveness. (the contradiction here stressed "high pressure to get rid of surplus stock".) Browsing by collectors

WAKENED WIFE WAILS WARNING

Mrs. Erickson of Milwaukee, Wis., heard a noise at her back door; she got out of bed, went quietly to the door and peeked out. She saw a man whom she did not know. Frightened, she returned to bed.

Moments later, she heard what sounded like someone — probably two people — rummaging through her bedroom. Mrs. Erickson slipped out of her hiding place, ran out the back door and called police. The burglars were gone when police arrived.

Missing were 42 one dollar bills and two proof sets of coins. The burglars missed the biggest item: A $3,000 coin collection.

was often discouraged or ignored and little imagination was seen in stores. (A small proportion of the answers complimented individual dealers.)

4. Strongpoints were seldom listed but improvements stressed a friendlier atmosphere, better restaurant arrangements, better parking facilities, eliminate the fee for seeing the show, add more color to the show with big names etc. and lessen the dignity and make it a carnival atmosphere. How valid these suggestions are can only be proven over the years. A few would be very much out of place for some shows and perhaps all are not acceptable but they do show the thoughts of the public.

5. Those who had exhibited felt that the judges were biased. (They lost), the class displays professionally purchased were placed in the same category as those small ones that were created. Displays had poor lighting and high deflections. A myriad of problems boiled down to poor collector contact after prizes were given.

6. The favorite show query mentioned all types of events but one surprise was a very well run dealer's show that recently saw many bourse tables barely break even. This convention did not appear on any sheet and was a statistical shocker as it had fine management, luxury location, advertising, top names and the best type coins for sale. Investigation and further interviews indicated that, "it was too rich for my blood," "I was in and out in ten minutes and nothing to hold me," "few exhibits," and "cold atmosphere" were the reasons that it did not make the list.

Two of the better shows recently covered by PACE include the San Diego show held in the El Cortez Hotel and the Las Vegas Numismatic Show at the Sahara. Both fall into the established show category that have adequate volunteer help. Each attracted many viewers and had few if any dealer complaints. A pat on the back to the committees involved and to the chairmen for their unselfish work. More of this type would overcome the inertia of collectors.

Perhaps the problem of the average show is simply too many chiefs and too few Indians. Or perhaps there are just too many shows and too few NUMISMATIC EVENTS.

Like the man says, there's no business like show business!

Special Events

Conventions, auctions, fairs, club meetings, or any other events of interest in the numismatic world appear in this section every week.

Organization officers and chairmen are respectfully requested to write us about your events. FREE COPIES of PAGE will be sent on request for distribution at your event.

After your event has taken place, please send us a report, with pictures if possible — for complete news coverage in PAGE.

THE NUMISMATIC SOCIETY of the New York City Community College of City University will hold its First Annual Exhibition of Coins, Currency, Medals, and other numismatic items on December 6th, 7th, and 8th. Outstanding collections by Society members will be featured. They include early-American and pre-Colonial coinage from the nation's top exhibitors.

The exhibit, which will be held at Klitgard Center, Jay and Tillary Streets, in downtown Brooklyn, is sponsored by the College S.G.A. It will be open to the public without charge, from 12 noon to 9 p.m. on the three exhibition days. In conjunction with the exhibit, a number of reputable dealers will conduct a bourse for the benefit of collectors and the student population of approximately 3,000 day students and 600 evening students who are expected to view the exhibit.

Chairman for the event is Kurt Schamann, President of the Numismatic Society at the College. Faculty Adviser is Dr. George M. Halpern, Chairman of the Department of Graphic Arts and Advertising Technology.

ISRAEL GOVERNMENT COINS AND MEDALS CORPORATION, LTD.

Official Announcement

Israel Proof-like Set-1966

1.

Proof-like sets of Israel's coins in current circulation bearing the Hebrew date תשכ"ו will again be issued in 1966. The official issue date is February 15, 1966.

2.

The 1966 coins will be the last to be struck at the Tel Aviv mint prior to its transfer to Jerusalem, Israel's capital city. For this reason, the package will be specially imprinted "Tel Aviv Mint" to differentiate the 1966 coins from all future issues which will be produced at the new Jerusalem mint.

3.

Extreme precautions have been taken to assure the highest possible quality of the coins. Among these are: (a.) The planchets have been carefully selected for their brilliance and flawlessness of surface and will have undergone special chemical treatment for further enhancement. (b.) Ten separate identical dies have been struck for the minting of each coin in the set. These dies have been highly polished and the coins represent the first striking from these virgin dies. (c.) Guaranteed supervision by the Director of the Israel Mint to assure that each die will be repolished every thirty minutes while it is still in use. (d.) The coins will at all times be handled by gloved workers.

4.

Mail orders from collectors will be processed from December 1, through 31, 1965. The official issue price is U.S. $3.00 per set. Orders are limited to five (5) sets per person, at a total cost of U.S. $15.00 including postage and handling. Orders must be accompanied by a check or money order payable to either bank and sent to Israel Discount Bank Ltd.

OR

Bank Leumi Le-Israel

Delivery will begin on February 15, 1966 and will be completed by March 31, 1966.

5.

Permanent subscribers to the Corporation are entitled to a further allocation of sets at a discount per the terms of their subscription.
